

College Preparation Forum for Performing Arts Students

Monday, March 18 7:00 p.m.

Cherry Hill East Teacher's Lounge (Cafeteria 1)

We invite you and your student to join us for a special program intended to help you understand and prepare for the college application and audition processes. There are many ways you can improve your application status before you reach your senior year, so it is never too early to start. The discussion will include ways you can continue to pursue the performing arts in college as both a major and non-major.

The informal program will include music professors from Rowan University, admissions officers from Temple University and The University of the Arts, as well as East parents and students who have been through the process and who will share their experiences.

The program is open to everyone and is free of charge. You are welcome to invite students and parents from other high schools to attend. Light refreshments will be served.

In previous years, this program has provided important information to families and an invaluable opportunity to meet one-on-one with college faculty and admissions officers.
